One of the local events of April which deserves notice in our religious column is the publication by the Ladies' Aid Soto all of us, and Mr. Savage's poem is so diety of the Baptist church of a volume good that we surrencer nearly all of our of sermons by their pastor, Rev. Richspace tals week to by, and to the opening, and Montague, D.D., entitled "Chancel paragrana of Vr Ea e's accress. 1216 Sermons." Laese sermons were on the chancel windows and decorations of The new house of worship. The subjects of these six discourses are "The Vine of Fruitfulness," "The Bread of Life," "The Anchor of Hope," "The : Cross of Suffering," "The Crown of Reware," "The Cub of Remembrance." I am glad to commend these sermons to the readers of The Gazette. They are simple, direct, duiexening and eloquent with the electronice of a deep spirituality. The sermons on "The Anchor of Hope," "The Cross of Suffering." "The Crown of Reward," "The Cub of Remembrance," are of especial power. The price is $1.00 and $1.50, according to the binding, and they may be purchased at the Consolidated book store. I should add that the volume contains three tine Albertypes, one a portrait of Dr. Montague and the others of the exterior and interior of the church.

CRISPLE CREEK CAVE.

Something About the Mines Near the 'Yown of Fremont.

PREMONT, April 2s. Enquiry is most unconsted y being raised in the East as to the character and capabilities of Cripple Creek gold fields. Evidences of this appear in many directions. Your correspondent on returning this evening from a redious and fatiguing trib over the nills was accosted, by a gentleman halling from the more classic regions of our great republic vilo was desirous of Deing posted straightway as to "which" were good mines and where they were to

. If anyone turns to the second book of Homer's "liad" and starting from the very first line reads on, he will, I think, find it to consist of a long and very detailed list of all the vesse's sent out from Argolis by the Greetan princes, in fact a regular navy, list, 3000 years old, and no don't compiled by the worthy Homer, not in the least to assist the pavy department in his day, if any such existed, out doubtless to emphasize the potheration and enormous expense entailed on the aforesaid martial Grecians by the vagaries of the lovely Helen, wife of

To a nungry and weary way arer it. would be as easy to enumerate these sains and their commanders as to furmish off-hand a category of all the good mines, placers and prospects which are to be found here, but the exigencies of politeness required an attempt to combly with the stranger's demand and although justice could not be cone in a ten minutes' conversation to so ponderous a subject, yet the encuiring Bostonian professed gratification with his information and with a high toned but cordial wave of his hand turned his horse up Gold hill in the direction of Grassy gulch and soon disappeared in the rapidly gathering twilight.

This gentleman said he was the representative of an eastern board of commerce and nad come to gather information as to the mines for the benefit of eastern encuirers.

With regard to the disastrous explosion at Thompson's sawmi. this aftermoon it is greatly to the credit of the engineer that he foresaw the canger of running so faulty an engine, in fact he was wise in time, and declined on Saturday morning to continue his duties uness his remonstrances were properly attended to Mr. Dilldine, one of the partners, thereupon took charge of the engine and met, as before stated in your columns, with a terrible death. The top of his head was blown of as nearly as if it had been dissected by a surgeon's scale, the lower portion of his face was also terribly mutilated. This unfortunate gentleman had, it is said, but recenty purchased a partnership in she concern. The fireman, James Grove, baough at some distance, was fearfully scalced about the face and will probably lose his eyesight. Dr. Whiting of this town was immediately summoned and did his utmost to relieve the sufferings of the wounded mar.

An inspection was made to-day of the Beaver Park townsite and it is truly a beautiful spot, more suggestive of pastoral idy, s than of the busy hum of commerce, but this is to come. The canapilities of the surrounding mineral region; an abundance of water in Beaver creek which murmers pleasantly through the whole length of the townsite, and a for heoming graded road from Chevenne mountain straight through to Fremont. doubtless will promote a rapid growth of this infant townsite. A large crushing mi waica covers an area of onethird of an acre is now being erected saate of the land from so many persons, and is nearing completion. The superof the tenderness which has brought you "intendent's office, Xr. Tomlinson, is also erected and that of Mr. Nichols, the assayer. There are savera, other buildings on the place, notably the excellent boarding house under the superintendence of Yrs. Sistore and Mrs. Cameroy. Lieir place was lither o known as Love's Ranca, a name acmirably suited to the cuter beauty of the surrouncing

The answer to this is that the state educates its children because it believes a repubican form of government cannot encure. unless its citizens are trained to intelligent action. The state depends upon the bublic schools to provide this training. Experience proves that free books shaft in their mine northwest of town, cased in Sound Suich, and the company increase the effectiveness of the public schools. Therefore, the state is justified in providing them. The motive is selfprotection. There could be no such motive in providing "clothes and look," for without these the child ceases to live, there is no need of self-protection on the part of the state. 3
